Beijing, May 10th, 2009 – The Asian Banker Leadership Awards were announced today in a ceremony in Beijing, China. An exclusive audience of top industry leaders from around the world witnessed the award ceremony for 28 of the top professionals and organizations in the banking industry in the Asia Pacific and Gulf region.

This is the highest award available for lifetime achievement in the banking industry in the Asia Pacific and Gulf region today. The award plays an important role in cultivating a culture of excellence among leaders and senior management in the banking industry in Asia and the Gulf Region.

“In this year of incredible turmoil in the financial services industry, the challenges to demonstrating real leadership achievement have been staggering,” says Emmanuel Daniel, president of The Asian Banker. “I am pleased to say that our programme has identified individuals and institutions that have stood the test and excelled despite the adverse global economic conditions that have humbled their more rash competitors.”

An audience of top industry leaders from around the world witnessed the awards ceremony for 28 of the top professionals in the banking industry in the Asia Pacific region. Among the honoured guests were Wee Cho Yaw, chairman, United Overseas Bank Group, Julie Dickson, superintendent, Office of the Superintendent of Financial Institutions, Chen Xiaoyan, head of retail financial services at Industrial and Commercial bank of China, and Andrew Carriline, managing director of risk management at Westpac Banking Corporation, and Foo-Yap Siew Hong, assistant managing director of the Monetary Authority of Singapore. The guest of honour for the evening was Dr Huan Guancong, CEO of Primus Pacific Partners.

Twelve regional and international awards were given to top bankers and regulators. Thirteen awards focused on achievements in specific business lines in the financial services industry, with one group of six looking at regional banks and another group of seven looking at banks in China. Two awards focused on supporting industries—executive search and legal advice—and the night also honoured senior bankers with lifetime achievement awards.

The award ceremony was held in conjunction with The Asian Banker Summit, undisputedly the largest gathering of financial services industry professionals in the Asia-Pacific region. The Summit is held annually in different Asian cities, and this year's was held in Beijing, China with the full support of The China Bankers Association. The Asian Banker Summit is once again holding a joint conference with the Bankers Association for Finance and Trade (BAFT) called the BAFT Asia Conference on Cash, Treasury & Trade. It is the second Asian conference organised by The Asian Banker and BAFT, an affiliate of the American Bankers Association that promotes the discussion of global issues in the financial services industry.

• JPMorgan Chase's strength in risk management made it an island of tranquillity in a raging sea of financial turmoil

Despite colossal upheaval in the US that decimated nearly every bank's stock price, JP Morgan Chase for the most part proved itself an exception, largely through its robust risk management practices that have proven to be the most admired outside of the Asian Pacific and Gulf regions, according to the process of The Asian Banker Achievement Awards programme.

As the healthiest of any US commercial bank, JPMorgan Chase has managed to preserve its market capitalisation to well that by January 2009 it found it was worth more than Wells Fargo, Bank of America and Citi combined. Notably, quick reactions in its credit card business—with the WaMu acquisition the largest in the US—helped prevent damage as defaults rose, and a strong risk management culture in the bank's commercial banking business helped it improve profits over 2007.

Its Tier 1 capital of 10.2%, and a tangible common equity ratio of 3.2% at the end of 2008 was also stronger than those of its rivals. And while JP Morgan Chase's Q4 profit in 2008 fell 76% to $702 million, as rising defaults and the U.S. recession forced the bank to write down $2.9 billion of assets and boost reserves for bad loans, it still ended the year with nearly $6 billion in profits.

• Rigorous selection process chaired by Mr David Eldon, Chairman, Board of Directors, Dubai International Financial Centre Authority and former Chairman of HSBC Asia Pacific

Dr. Ishrat Husain, Chairman, National Commission for Government Reforms Prime Minister's Secretariat, Pakistan, former Governor, State Bank of Pakistan

• International jury uses comprehensive selection criteria

The assessment for the awards are made on four inter-related criteria:

- i. The financial performance of the business under consideration. Here we look at annual results, or the financial performance of the business under review. Strong bottom line performance is the first determinant of a leader's suitability for consideration for this award.
- ii. Specific achievement in the year under review. We then look for either a specific achievement or a series of achievements in the year under consideration. The size and complexity of the achievement(s) are taken into account.
- iii. Based on a well-communicated vision. Businesses and their leaders are shaped by a long-term vision that is demonstrated not just by statements, but also through the long-term development of a strategic business plan that defines a business.
- iv. Augmentation by a good team. Sustainable businesses cannot only be built around individuals, but the strength of a team following a singular vision that can also react to incidents as a single entity.

The Selection Process

The selection process began in January and ended in April, involving a team of four researchers. The initial selection is through a survey and desk research done by the research team at The Asian Banker. The identified candidates are then subject to further scrutiny through interviews with third parties, including local banking journalists and analysts who have had contact with the candidates, peers and third party reviews. The short-listed candidates are then submitted for a review by the board of advisors, based on a comparative evaluation done by the research team.
